1. Introduction

DQ & FF Monopoly (Itadaki Street Portable) is really fun and addictive. To make this game more enjoyable I've written the following card listing. Thanks goes to Square Enix for making such a creative game. As you can see, this FAQ is not 100% complete. It takes time and a lot of luck to get a specific card, and some of the descriptions need to be revised.

Please feel free to e-mail me with missing or incorrect information.

Hope you'll enjoy this FAQ.

1a. Quick Gameplay Introduction

This is a monopoly game, basically your strategy is to collect all 4 suit and past the starting point, in which you will get extra gil and level up. Collect money, spend them on the street that has potential of improvement. When the user purchase more than one house on the same street they have the ability to increase the value of the house, doing this will increase the cost of the stock making the stock worth more. Collect enough money then go back to the starting point to past the level.

2. How to use this guide

The number on the left indicates the Card No. Whenever you step on a "suit" square or a question mark (?) square you'll enter a screen with a 10 x 10 square chart. In that chart you can select any of the 100 slots. When you choose four or more of your own slots in sequence (vertically or horizontally) you'll get extra gil. If you get 4 in a row you'll get 40 gil, 5 in a row you'll get 50 gil, and so on. If you do finish a full line of ten, you'll get 200g!

Each time you select a slot, a number between 1 and 100 will be revealed accompanied with an effect on your current game. The effect of each card number is explained below.

The Japanese in "Translations" section is written in Japanese (Shift-JIS). To view it, 'Right Click' on the empty place, then choose 'Encoding' -> 'Japanese (Shift-JIS)' or 'Japanese (Auto Select)'.
